Community Association Institute (CAI) Joins Forces with the Community Advocacy Network (CAN) in the Fight against taxing homeowners. Vote No HB 203/SB 722.

CAI is an international organization with more than 33,000 members and 60 chapters. CAI asked to join forces with CAN and place its considerable weight behind CAN's Petition.

"CAI's Florida Legislative Alliance has been advocating for strong public policy in Florida's communities for decades and this partnership is part of our grassroots advocacy efforts to educate legislators on the negative implications HB 203 and SB 722 would have on the 9 million residents living in Florida condominiums and homeowners associations," said Dawn Bauman, Senior Vice President, Government and Public Affairs, Community Association Institute, "We recognized the incredible tool CAN created in the Petition campaign and we knew collaborating would be an excellent complement to our advocacy efforts."

In 2015, CAN wrangled and convinced the disparate coalition groups, representing community associations and leaders to form one unified voice. CAN then coordinated a monumental email and relentless grassroots campaign educating Legislators and the 9 million Floridians owning property in Florida's community associations. It worked last year but the bad bills are back again.

CAI's Partnership with CAN ensures one unified community Association voice in Tallahassee.

Community Advocacy Network (CAN), Chairman

The Community Advocacy Network (CAN) is Florida's leading voice for the interests of 60,000 community associations statewide, leading the fight against over-regulation of private residential communities by state and local governments. Each year since its inception in 2007, CAN spearheads important State legislative reforms designed to protect and enhance Florida Community association living. CAN continues to foster financial stability and operational integrity to all common-interest ownership communities statewide.
